Design for Keyboard Instrument in Just Intonation.

(Acoustical Society of America Journal. v.11. n.2 (Oct., 1939), p.216-8.)

In keyboard instrument, just scale may be closely approximated by setting up two equally tempered scales, one on basis of A440.0, other on basis of A436.3 and mechanically selecting from them those frequencies which most nearly satisfy appropriate ratios; within one octave above middle C no scale-step is in error by more than 0.6 vibration per second.
